What Is the Purpose of Form I-751?

This form, known as the "I-751 Petition," is used by a conditional resident who obtained status through marriage to request that U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) remove the conditions on their residence.

Who May File Form I-751?

If you obtained conditional resident status through marriage to a U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident, you must use Form I-751, Petition to Remove Conditions on Residence, to request the removal of those conditions. If you have dependent children who also acquired conditional resident status on the same day as you or within 90 days thereafter, you must include their names and Alien Registration Numbers (A-Numbers) in Part 5 of Form I-751 to request the removal of the conditions on their status.

If your dependent children did not acquire conditional resident status on the same day as you or within 90 days thereafter, or if the conditional resident parent is deceased, each dependent child must file Form I-751 separately to have the conditions on their status removed. If you are still married, you must file Form I-751 jointly with your spouse through whom you obtained conditional status.

However, you may file Form I-751 without your spouse if:

1. You entered the marriage in good faith, but your spouse subsequently died;
2. You entered the marriage in good faith, but the marriage was later terminated due to divorce or annulment;
3. You entered the marriage in good faith, but you have been battered or subject to extreme cruelty by your petitioning spouse; or

4. Your conditional resident parent entered the marriage in good faith, but you have been battered or subject to extreme cruelty by your parent's U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident spouse or by your conditional resident parent; or
5. The termination of your status and removal from the United States would result in extreme hardship

When Should I File Form I-751?

1) Filing jointly: with your spouse: If you file jointly, you must submit the form during the 90-day period before your conditional residence expires.

2) Filing: with a request to waive the joint filing requirement or filing individually: You can file the form without your spouse if they are deceased, you are divorced, or you or your conditional resident child were abused or subjected to extreme cruelty. You can file this petition at any time after you are granted conditional resident status and before you are removed from the United States.

3) Effect of not filing: If you fail to file this petition, you will lose your permanent resident status automatically two years from the date you were granted conditional status and become removable from the United States.

NOTE: However, if your failure to file was not your fault, you can still file the petition late with a written explanation and a request that USCIS excuse the late filing. USCIS may excuse the delay if you demonstrate that the delay was due to extraordinary circumstances beyond your control and the length of the delay was reasonable.

General Instructions

USCIS offers free forms on its website, which can be viewed, printed, or filled out using the latest version of Adobe Reader, which can be downloaded for free at <http://get.adobe.com/reader/>. If you do not have internet access, you can call the USCIS Contact Center at 1-800-375-5283 and request that a form be mailed to you. For TTY (deaf or hard of hearing), call: 1-800-767-1833.

Signature. It is important to note that all signatures on the petition must be properly signed and not be a stamped or typewritten name. For individuals under 14 years of age, their parent or legal guardian can sign the petition on their behalf, while a legal guardian may sign for a mentally incompetent person.

Filing Fee. Additionally, each petition must be accompanied by the appropriate filing fee.

Biometric Services Fee.

1. Conditional Resident. If you are a conditional resident or have any conditional resident dependents included in the principal petitioners Form I-751, you are required to pay a biometric services fee along with the filing fee. The details on the filing fee can be found in the "What Is the Filing Fee" section of these instructions.

2.U.S. Citizen or Lawful Permanent Resident Spouse. If you are the spouse of a U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident, you are not required to include a biometric services fee when submitting this petition. However, if USCIS determines that your biometrics are required, you will be notified and given instructions on how to submit the additional fee along with a biometric services appointment notice.

Evidence. When submitting your Form I-751, you must include all the evidence and supporting documentation that is listed in the "What Initial Evidence Is Required" section of the instructions.

Biometric Services Appointment. USCIS reserves the right to require an interview or biometric appointment at any time during the processing of your petition, in order to verify your identity, obtain additional information, and conduct background and security checks. This may include a criminal history check by the FBI. If USCIS determines that an appointment is necessary, you will be notified in writing with the location, date, and time of your appointment at a local or designated USCIS Application Support Center (ASC). If you are overseas, you may be instructed to contact a U.S. Embassy, U.S. Consulate, or USCIS office outside the United States to set up an appointment. It is essential that you attend your scheduled biometric services appointment, as failure to do so may result in a denial of your petition.

Before submitting your Form I-751, you should carefully review the ASC Acknowledgment that appears in Part 7. This acknowledgment confirms that you have completed the petition, reviewed all of the information you provided, and affirmed that it is complete, true, and correct. If someone assisted you in filling out the petition, they must review the ASC Acknowledgment with you to ensure you understand it.

If your petition was signed by someone other than yourself, such as your spouse, that person must also read, complete, and sign Part 8. It is important to ensure that all required sections of the petition are completed accurately and in full, as any errors or omissions can cause delays or even lead to a denial of your petition.

Copies. You may submit legible photocopies of documents requested, unless the Instructions specifically state that you must submit an original document. USCIS may request an original document at the time of filing or at any time during processing of an application, petition, or request. If you submit original documents when not required, the documents may remain a part of the record, and USCIS will not automatically return them to you.

Translations. If you provide a document that contains information in a language other than English, you are required to submit a complete and accurate English translation along with it. The translator should certify in writing that they are proficient in both the foreign language and English, and that the translation is accurate. The certification must include the translators signature, printed name, address, and date. USCIS may also require additional evidence or documentation to verify the accuracy of the translation.

What Initial Evidence Is Required?

Permanent Resident Card When filing your petition, you must include a copy of your permanent resident card or alien registration card along with a copy of the permanent resident or alien registration cards of any conditional resident children that you are including in your petition. Be sure to submit copies of both the front and back sides of the cards.

Exception Individuals who are living abroad due to military or government orders, as well as any conditional resident dependents living overseas and listed in Part 5 of the petition, are required to submit the following items along with Form I-751:

1. To complete your petition, you must submit two passport-style photos for each petitioner and dependent, regardless of their age. These photos must be in color and have a white to off-white background. They should be printed on thin paper with a glossy finish, and must be unmounted and unretouched.

The passport-style photos must measure 2" x 2" and show a full face, frontal view with a white to off-white background. You should be bare-headed unless you are wearing headwear as required by your religious denomination. On the back of each photo, lightly print your name and Alien Registration Number (A-Number) (if applicable) using a pencil or felt pen.

2. As part of the petition process, each petitioner and dependent aged 14 to 79 years must submit two completed fingerprint cards (Form FD-258). On each fingerprint card, you must write your A-Number and ensure that the completed cards are not bent, folded, or creased. These fingerprint cards must be prepared by a U.S. Embassy or U.S. Consulate, USCIS Office, or U.S. military installation. Additionally, if you are filing based on military or government orders, you must indicate on top of Form I-751 whether you are "ACTIVE MILITARY" or have "GOVERNMENT ORDERS" and provide a copy of your current military or government orders. This is necessary for USCIS to properly identify your filing.

Evidence of the Relationship To establish that your marriage was entered into in "good faith" and not for the purpose of circumventing immigration laws, you must submit copies of various documents along with your petition. These documents should demonstrate the circumstances of your relationship from the date of marriage to the present and any circumstances surrounding the end of the relationship if it has ended. You should provide as many documents as possible to support your claim. The documents may include, but are not limited to, the following examples:

1. Birth certificates of any children born during the marriage;
2. Lease or mortgage contracts that show joint ownership or occupancy of your shared residence;
3. Financial records that demonstrate joint ownership of assets and joint responsibility for liabilities. This may include joint savings and checking accounts with transaction history, complete joint federal and state tax returns, insurance policies that name your spouse as a beneficiary, joint utility bills, or joint installment or other loans. If applicable, you may also submit copies of military Leave and Earnings Statements showing receipt of Basic Allowance for Quarters (BAQ) with family members and/or Form DD-1172 for military family member identification cards.
4. Other documents that you consider relevant to establish that your marriage was not entered for the purpose of evading U.S. immigration laws; and
5. Another type of document that you may submit to demonstrate the validity of your marriage is an affidavit. Affidavits must be sworn to or affirmed by at least two people who have known both you and your spouse since your conditional residence was granted and have personal knowledge of your marriage and relationship. These individuals may be required to testify before an immigration officer about the information contained in the affidavit.

The original affidavit must be submitted and include the following information about the affiant: their full name and address, date and place of birth, relationship to you or your spouse (if any), and complete details explaining how they acquired their knowledge. Affidavits must be supported by other types of evidence listed above, such as joint financial records, birth certificates of children born during the marriage, or photos showing you and your spouse together.

If you are filing as an individual due to the death of your spouse, submit a copy of the death certificate with your petition, along with evidence of the qualifying relationship.

If you are filing as an individual because your marriage has been terminated, submit a copy of the final divorce decree or other document terminating or annulling the marriage with your petition, along with evidence of the qualifying relationship.

If you are filing as an individual because you and/or your conditional resident child were battered or subjected to extreme cruelty, you should submit evidence of the abuse. This may include

1. copies of reports or official records issued by police, courts, medical personnel, school officials, clergy, social workers, and other social service agency personnel. You may also submit any legal documents relating to an order of protection against the abuser or relating to any legal steps you may have taken to end the abuse. Additionally, you may submit evidence that you sought safe haven in a shelter for the abused or similar refuge, as well as photographs evidencing your injuries.

2. If your marriage was terminated by divorce on grounds of physical abuse or extreme cruelty, you should also include a copy of your divorce decree.

To apply for a waiver of the joint filing requirement based on extreme hardship, you need to provide evidence that your removal would cause significantly more hardship compared to other foreign nationals who are removed from the country after an extended stay. The evidence should only relate to the two-year period when you were a conditional resident. To understand extreme hardship, visit the USCIS website at <http://www.uscis.gov/ilink/docView/FR/HTML/FR/0-0-0-1/0-0-0-42380/0-0-0-44857/0-0-0-47481/0-0-0-47683.html>. If you are a child filing separately from your parent, provide a detailed explanation of why you are filing separately, along with supporting documents.

Criminal History If you have ever been detained or arrested by a law enforcement officer for any reason, anywhere in the world, and no charges were pressed, you must provide an official statement from the arresting agency or a court order confirming that no charges were filed.

On the other hand, if you have been detained or arrested by a law enforcement officer and charges were filed, or charges were filed against you without an arrest, you must provide an original or court-certified copy of the complete arrest record and/or disposition for each incident. This includes dismissal orders, conviction records, or acquittal orders.

If you have ever been convicted or placed in an alternative sentencing program or rehabilitative program, such as a drug treatment or community service program, submit

1. An original or court-certified copy of your sentencing record for each incident, and evidence that you completed your sentence, specifically;

A. An original or certified copy of your probation or parole record; or

B. Evidence that you completed an alternative sentencing program, or rehabilitative program;

1. You must provide either an original or court-certified copy of the court order that vacated, set aside, sealed, expunged, or otherwise removed the arrest or conviction.

2. Alternatively, if there is no record available, you must provide an original statement from the court indicating that there is no record of your arrest or conviction.

NOTE: Documentation is not required for traffic fines and incidents that did not result in an actual arrest, unless the penalty was a fine of less than $500 and/or points on your drivers license, and the incident was related to alcohol or drugs.

What Is the Filing Fee?

The Form I-751 requires a filing fee of $595, and a biometric services fee of $85 is also mandatory for petitioners.

Additionally, each conditional resident dependent eligible for inclusion on the principal petitioners Form I-751 and listed under Part 5. of Form I-751 must pay an additional biometric services fee of $85, even if they reside overseas pursuant to military or Government orders and regardless of their age.

Its important to note that the filing fee and biometric services fee are non-refundable, regardless of any action taken by USCIS on the petition. Please do not mail cash and ensure that you submit all fees in exact amounts.

Your bank will typically reflect the debit from your account within 24 hours on your regular account statement.

Its important to know that you will not receive your original check back as we will destroy it and keep a copy for our records. If for technical reasons we are unable to process the EFT, you authorize us to process the copy in place of your original check. If your check is returned as unpayable, we will make one re-submission attempt to the financial institution. If the check is returned as unpayable a second time, we will reject your petition and charge you a returned check fee.
