What Is the Purpose of Form N-600?

Form N-600, Application for Certificate of Citizenship, is an application for a Certificate of Citizenship.

Form N-600 should be filed by whom?

This application should be filed if you fall into one of the following categories:

1. You were born outside the United States to a U.S. citizen parent and are requesting a Certificate of Citizenship.
2. You automatically became a U.S. citizen after birth but before turning 18 years of age, and are now requesting a Certificate of Citizenship. A parent or legal guardian can also file this form on behalf of a minor child.

The determination of whether you automatically became a U.S. citizen at birth or after birth but before turning 18 years of age depends on the citizenship laws applicable during the time of your birth or when the last qualifying condition was met. For those claiming U.S. citizenship based on birth abroad to U.S. citizen parents, the laws in effect during the date of birth apply, and certain provisions apply based on whether the child was born in or out of wedlock. If claiming citizenship after birth, but before reaching 18 years of age, the applicable law is the one in effect when the last qualifying condition was met. Generally, the qualifying conditions are as follows:

To be eligible for filing Form N-600, you must meet the following conditions before you reach the age of 18:

- (1) One of your parents must be a U.S. citizen;
- (2) You must be the biological child of the U.S. citizen parent;
- (3) You must have lawful permanent residence in the United States; and
- (4) You must be living in the United States under the legal and physical custody of your U.S. citizen parent.

If you meet these conditions, you can file Form N-600 at any time after you have become a U.S. citizen at birth or after birth, but before you turn 18 years old. It is important to note that filing this application does not mean you are requesting to become a U.S. citizen, but only requesting a Certificate of Citizenship to recognize your citizenship status on a specific date.

Acquiring U.S. citizenship through an adoptive U.S. citizen parent is also possible for an adopted child, depending on the applicable law. At present, an adopted child can obtain U.S. citizenship through their U.S. citizen parent, but this provision DOES NOT apply to stepchildren.

NOTE: If you are now 18 years of age and all of the above conditions applied to you before your 18th birthday, you may file this application to obtain a Certificate of Citizenship. However, if you were under 18 years of age on February 27, 2001, but not all of the above conditions were met before your 18th birthday, you must qualify for U.S. citizenship in your own right.

This application can be filed if:

1. You are over 18 years of age and assert that you acquired U.S. citizenship through a U.S. citizen parent; or
2. You are the legal guardian or U.S. citizen parent who has legal and physical custody of a child (under 18 years of age), whether biological or adopted.

Law in Effect at the Time of Your Birth

In order to determine your U.S. citizenship status at birth, USCIS must refer to the law in effect during that time. The current law that governs U.S. citizenship was enacted on November 14, 1986, and was last revised on February 27, 2001, under the Child Citizenship Act. If you were born before November 14, 1986, and are uncertain about your U.S. citizenship status, you may contact USCIS by visiting their website at www.uscis.gov or by calling the USCIS Contact Center at 1-800-375-5283. TTY users can call 1-800-767-1833.

Do not file this application if any of the following conditions apply to you:

1. You do not have a biological or adoptive parent who is a U.S. citizen.
2. You are the child of U.S. citizen parents who live outside the United States. You should file Form N-600K, Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate Under Section 322.
3. You were born out-of-wedlock, your U.S. citizen parent is your father, and you were not legitimated before your 16th birthday.

NOTE: This exception does not apply if you were born abroad to an eligible U.S. citizen mother. You may still be eligible for citizenship through your mother's naturalization.

4. You want to change the information on a previously issued Certificate of Citizenship. In this case, you should file Form N-565, Application for Replacement Naturalization/Citizenship Document, to request a replacement document with the correct information. 5. You have already filed Form N-600 and received a decision from USCIS on that previously filed Form N-600. Any subsequent filing of Form N-600 will be rejected by USCIS. You should refer to your Form N-600 denial notice for further details.

USCIS offers free forms on its website, and to view, print, or complete them, you should use the most recent version of Adobe Reader, which is available for free at <http://get.adobe.com/reader/>. If you do not have access to the internet, you can contact the USCIS National Customer Service Center at 1-800-375-5283 to request that we send you a form via mail. For TTY (deaf or hard of hearing), please call 1-800-767-1833.

Signature

It is important that each application is signed and filed correctly. USCIS will not accept a signature that is stamped or typewritten in place of a proper signature. If the applicant is under 14 years old, a parent or legal guardian can sign on their behalf. For mentally incompetent persons, a legal guardian may also sign the application.

Filing Fee

Additionally, each application must be submitted with the appropriate filing fee. Please refer to the "What Is the Filing Fee" section of the instructions for more information on the required fee.

Biometric Services Fee

If you submit the application directly to USCIS, you are not required to include a biometric services fee at the time of submission. In case you are subsequently notified to submit biometrics, you will receive a biometric services appointment notice that will include instructions on how to submit the additional biometric services fee. If you file the application with an agency other than USCIS, it is advisable to check with that agency to determine if and when you must submit a biometric services fee.

Evidence

At the time of submitting the application, it is mandatory to provide all the evidence and supporting documentation as per the requirements mentioned in the What Evidence Must You Submit sections of the instructions

Biometric Services Appointment.

USCIS may ask you to attend an interview or provide biometric information like fingerprints, photograph, and signature at any time to confirm your identity, collect more information, and conduct background and security checks, including a check of criminal history records maintained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), before deciding on your application, petition, or request. After USCIS receives your application and verifies that it is complete, they will inform you in writing if you need to attend a biometric services appointment. If required, the notice will provide you with the location of your local or designated USCIS Application Support Center (ASC) and the date and time of your appointment, or if you are overseas, guide you on how to set up an appointment at a U.S. Embassy, U.S. Consulate, or USCIS office outside the United States.

When you have to give biometrics, you must sign an oath at the appointment that confirms:

1. You provided or allowed all information in the application.
2. You read and comprehended all the information contained in your application, and that you submitted with it.
3. All the information provided in the application was accurate, complete, and true when filed.

If you do not attend the biometric services appointment, your application may be refused by USCIS.

Copies When submitting documents as evidence, legible photocopies are generally sufficient, unless the Instructions specifically require original documents. USCIS may request original documents during the application process and will return them to you once they are no longer needed.

NOTE: However, if you submit original documents when not required, they may be destroyed upon receipt.

Translations. If you submit a document that is not in English, you must also include a full English translation. The translator must certify that the translation is complete and accurate and that they are competent to translate from the foreign language to English. The certification should include the date, the translators signature and printed name, and contact information if available.

Notice To Those Making Payment by Check.

If you choose to pay the filing fee for Form N-600 with a check, USCIS will convert it into an electronic funds transfer (EFT) by copying the account information on it and electronically debiting your account.

The EFT usually takes 24 hours and will appear on your regular account statement. USCIS will not return the original check but will keep a copy of it. In case USCIS cannot process the EFT for technical reasons, you authorize us to process the copy instead. If the check is returned as unpayable, USCIS will try to re-submit the payment to the financial institution only once. If the check is returned as unpayable again, your application will be rejected, and you will be charged a returned check fee.
